

Located within the picturesque Delaware Water Gap Nat'l Recreation Area in northwestern New Jersey, Peters Valley School of Craft is the perfect setting for immersive photography workshops. Professional photographers from around the world lead hands-on workshops in a variety of subjects, open to all skill levels. Daily local field trips, critiques and individual attention will help you develop your personal style. Our digital photography studio is housed in a historic Greek-revival style building in the heart of our sprawling campus, within walking distance of the dining hall, dormitories, other studios and our gallery. This unique type of creative community offers you the chance to interact and connect with other creative people exploring many different craft mediums.
